

Half of bank tellers in Hawaii earn $12.02 an hour or less. This is not a living wage.

Nationwide, 31% of bank tellers and their family are on some type of public assistance

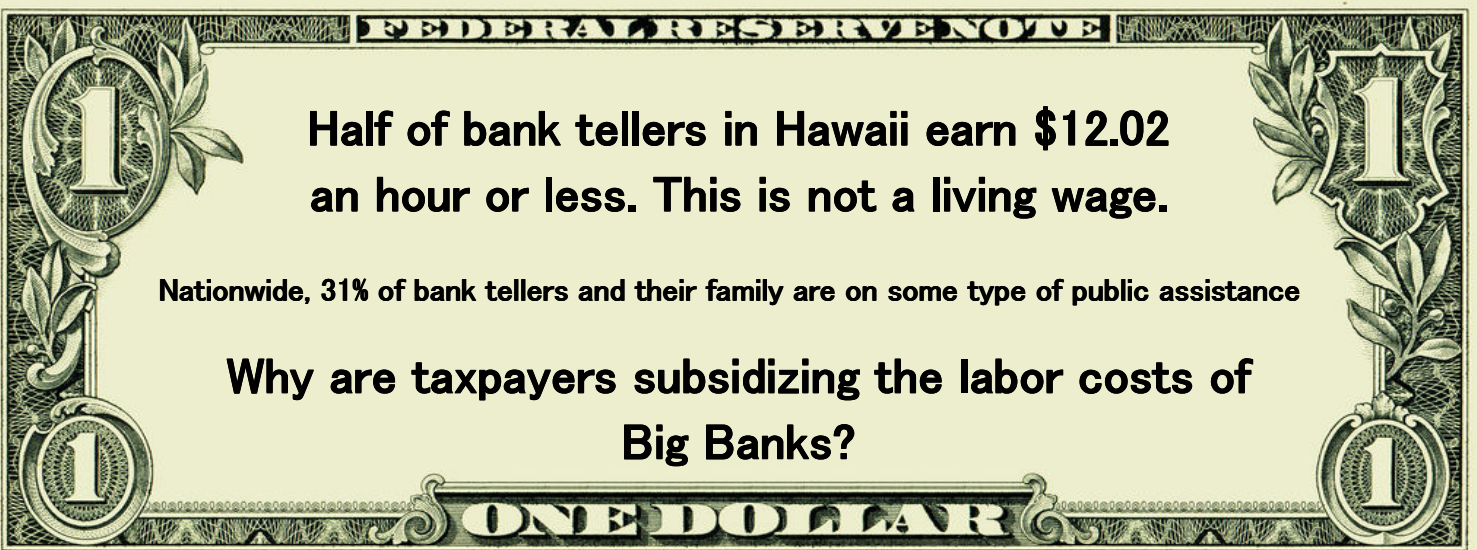

Why are taxpayers subsidizing the labor costs of Big Banks?

Half of bank tellers in Hawaii earn $12.02 an hour or less. This is not a living wage.

Nationwide, 31% of bank tellers and their family are on some type of public assistance

Why are taxpayers subsidizing the labor costs of Big Banks?

Half of bank tellers in Hawaii earn $12.02 an hour or less. This is not a living wage.

Nationwide, 31% of bank tellers and their family are on some type of public assistance

Why are taxpayers subsidizing the labor costs of Big Banks?

Edward Pei of the Hawaii Banker's Association is asking bank customers, employees and the community to donate food and money to the Hawaii Food Bank. This is a good act of public charity...but if half of tellers make less than $12.02 an hour, how many local bank employees actually rely on Food Bank aid?

Tell Edward Pei and his member banks to pay a living wage to their Hawaii bank employees.
When local workers thrive, our community thrives.

Call Mr. Pei at: 808-524-5161, or email him at: epei@hawaiiiba.org.

By Unite Here Local 5, 1516 South King Street, Honolulu HI 96826

Edward Pei of the Hawaii Banker's Association is asking bank customers, employees and the community to donate food and money to the Hawaii Food Bank. This is a good act of public charity...but if half of tellers make less than $12.02 an hour, how many local bank employees actually rely on Food Bank aid?

Tell Edward Pei and his member banks to pay a living wage to their Hawaii bank employees.
When local workers thrive, our community thrives.

Call Mr. Pei at: 808-524-5161, or email him at: epei@hawaiiiba.org.

By Unite Here Local 5, 1516 South King Street, Honolulu HI 96826

Edward Pei of the Hawaii Banker's Association is asking bank customers, employees and the community to donate food and money to the Hawaii Food Bank. This is a good act of public charity...but if half of tellers make less than $12.02 an hour, how many local bank employees actually rely on Food Bank aid?

Tell Edward Pei and his member banks to pay a living wage to their Hawaii bank employees.
When local workers thrive, our community thrives.

Call Mr. Pei at: 808-524-5161, or email him at: epei@hawaiiiba.org.

By Unite Here Local 5, 1516 South King Street, Honolulu HI 96826